

Hope College

Hope College Digital Commons

---

The Anchor: 2001

The Anchor: 2000-2009

---

11-7-2001

The Anchor, Volume 115.10: November 7, 2001

Hope College

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.hope.edu/anchor\_2001

Part of the Library and Information Science Commons

---

Recommended Citation

Repository citation: Hope College, "The Anchor, Volume 115.10: November 7, 2001" (2001). The Anchor: 2001. Paper 22.

https://digitalcommons.hope.edu/anchor\_2001/22

Published in: The Anchor, Volume 115, Issue 10, November 7, 2001. Copyright © 2001 Hope College, Holland, Michigan.

This News Article is brought to you for free and open access by the The Anchor: 2000-2009 at Hope College Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Anchor: 2001 by an authorized administrator of Hope College Digital Commons. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@hope.edu.

Bultman announces sexuality task force

Task Force will help deal with issues of sexuality on campus

Courtney Klein
CAMPUS BEAT EDITOR

Recently in his Presidential Update, Jim Bultman, Hope College President announced that he has organized a Task Force to help Hope's community deal with issues of sexuality.

"As you know, our society, churches, and college campuses struggle with issues of sexuality. Hope College is no exception. In light of related campus events of the last several years, I have formed a task force of college personnel representing the academic, student development, chaplain, and counseling areas of the college," Bultman said in his update.

Bultman was out of town and unavailable for comment.

Bultman has asked that the Task Force, headed by Professor of Communications James Herrick, to report their findings to him by March 1, 2002.

"The idea of the Task Force originally surfaced during the spring semester of 2001. As for the time between now and March when we make our report, I don't see it as a delay. Five months is not a lot of time when you have such a large task before you. We want to be thorough and thoughtful in approaching our charge," Herrick said.

Herrick believes that he was asked to serve on the committee based on two factors: his experience leading other groups on and off campus, and his interest in the issues the task force would be addressing.

more TASK FORCE on 3

ANCHOR PHOTO BY ROB ONDRA

A group of '05 Play girls gather together during Saturday's Nykerk event held at the Holland Civic Center, in which '04 won the cup.

Nykerk event ends in '04 win on Saturday

Erica Heeg
INFOCUS EDITOR

The 67th Annual Nykerk Cup Competition ended in victory for the Class of 2004 on Saturday, November 3, at the Holland Civic Center. Both teams presented a song, oration and play for a panel of nine judges. The competition culminated a month of hard work for both even and odd years. This year more than 325 freshman and sophomores took part in the tradition.

Senior publicity chair for the 2001 Nykerk Executive Committee Marta Liang ('02) was very pleased with the evening.

"The Nykerk spirit and excitement are in the air," Liang ('02) said.

2005 Song, which consisted of 113 freshman girls, presented the song "My Guy". "The Genuine Treatment" was the title of freshman Gretchen Schmidt's 2005 Oration. And the 2005 Play, "The Discombobulated Fairytale," was presented by a cast of fourteen freshman girls.

2004 Song, which consisted of fifty-two sophomore girls, presented "This Little Light of Mine." Orator Meredith De Avila ('04) delivered "With a Bold Step," and the 2004 Play cast of fifteen presented "There's No Place Like Hope."

The Class of 2004 got the taste of victory that they were not able to attain last year, when odd year was victorious. 2004 Play Moraler Seth Devries is savoring his first Nykerk victory.

"I feel pretty good. This is the second year I've done Nykerk and winning this year was incredible. It was like redeeming ourselves," DeVries ('04) said.

Even year orator Meredith De Avila ('04) was also feeling fantastic.

"I got up on stage, and I nailed every motion and every word. It was there, and I was at ease. It was a lot of work but it was totally worth it," De Avila ('04) said.

2004 Song girl Tiffany Zylstra echoed De Avila's and DeVries' excitement.

"Oh my gosh. It is incredible. I am so completely astounded and so relieved," Zylstra said.

Excitement was not just reserved for the winners of the competition though. For some 2005 Nykerk participants, losing does not matter. 2005 Song girl Melissa Gifford's was still ecstatic about the night's performances.

"I feel good. It was still fun to lose, and I'm definitely going to do it again next year," Gifford ('05) said.

The 2001 Nykerk program notes that, "Nykerk is not inherently about competition, but about friendships and showcasing talents." This was made apparent by both the '04 and '05 teams as they "met in the middle" after the winner was announced and then partied together afterwards at the Kletz. For Liang, who has taken part in the tradition for four years, Nykerk has been a big part of her Hope College experience.

"All four years have been fabulous. It gets better and better every year," Liang said.

ANCHOR PHOTO BY ROB ONDRA

Anna Ericks ('04) hands out candy to one of the many trick-or-treaters that visited Hope's campus on Halloween. Other events on campus included the Vorhees haunted house and all campus Halloween party.

Greeks organize risk management policy

Risk policy requires Greeks to take responsibility for their own actions

James Pierce
CAMPUS BEAT EDITOR

The Greek system at Hope is getting a facelift.

Last week the Panhellenic Board and Interfraternity Council resolved to officially recognize the risk management policy that was written two years ago, which entails a shift in the accountability of Hope's fraternnities and sororities from the administration to the Greek organizations themselves.

Under this new system, each fraternity and sorority will establish a standards board to handle minor internal problems that students may have within their sororities or fraternities.

The new changes are about "... Upholding the values that our groups were founded on," said Jani Fisher ('02), Panhellenic Board President and member of the Sibylline sorority. The Panhellenic Board and the Inter-

more RISK POLICY on 3

Inside

Anchor@Hope.Edu
(616) 395-7877

Great Performance
Series
Arts,
Page 4.

Nykerk Spread
Pages 6-7.

WIO develops own ad
campaign
Spotlight,
Page 8.

Crime on Campus
Infocus,
Page 9

Sports medicine lecture series offers healthier lifestyle to Hope students

This week's lecture on November 8th focuses on vegetarianism and the benefits of living a healthy lifestyle

Becca Haynes
STAFF REPORTER

This week's attendance of the Distinguished Lecture Series in Sports Medicine will provide information regarding vegetarianism and the athlete, in conjunction with healthier eating habits.

On Thursday, November 8, the Lecture Series will present Debra Vinci, who is assistant professor in the department of health, leisure, and exercise science at Appalachian State University in Boone, N.C. Vinci also holds a doctorate in health education from Loma Linda University.

Vinci has had a number of experiences in health education and nutrition in the Pacific Northwest. She has published or made more than forty presentations on subjects related to athletic nutrition.

Her lecture titled, "The Vegetarian Athlete," is about the various types of vegetarianism and the importance of planning to insure a balanced vegetarian diet.

"We chose this topic because it is one that is current. More athletes are choosing to lead a vegetarian lifestyle, but it is one that presents challenges at a physical high performance level, series coordinator Richard Ray said.

Vinci will examine the importance of following a diet that is high in carbohydrates, provides adequate protein to meet the increased needs of athletes and is low in fat.

The Distinguished Lecture Series in Sports Medicine, now in its fifth year, is aimed towards students, educators, clinicians, athletic trainers, physical therapists, and physicians, features those in the professions of nursing, athletic training, and physical therapy.

"We wanted to make sure our staff was exposed to the best minds in the various disciplines that compromise Sports Medicine. We also thought [the series] would allow us to provide access to an excellent source of continuing education in the West Michigan area," Ray said.

Ray is in charge of deciding on speakers and topics. He receives input from co-sponsors Holland Community Hospital, Hope College, and Grand Rapids Sports Center.

"I try to ask myself, what are the big questions in sports medicine? What [topics] are being talked about and written about?" Ray said.

The lectures usually draw fifty to two hundred attendees.

"We try to address the broadest segment of people interested in sports medicine, examining topics in psychology, nutrition, asthma; there's a broad range of topics. This lecture may be interesting to athletes, vegetarian students, pre-med students, and other people from the Holland community," Ray said. "I hope that as many [individuals] as possible will take advantage of this opportunity. One of the benefits of attending Hope College is the variety of enrichment activities that are available. I'm very grateful to the professors who have advertised."

"The Vegetarian Athlete" will be presented in the Maas Auditorium at 7:00 p.m. The public is invited and admission is free.

ANCHOR PHOTO BY ROB ONDRA

Anne Pott ('02) donates blood during the Blood Drive held from 2-8 p.m. on Tuesday. The American Red Cross is hoping the turnout will be as good as it was after the September 11th attacks.

Holland/Zeeland campaign raises money for Hope Fund

Jared Gall
STAFF REPORTER

This Wednesday, November 7, representatives from Hope College and local business leaders will visit over 250 area businesses. Their goal is to seek contributions to the Hope Fund for the Holland/Zeeland Community Campaign.

Susan Feldkamp, Hope Fund Manager said that the Hope Fund, formerly known as the Hope Annual Fund, has been in existence for almost as long as the college itself.

The Community Campaign began roughly twenty-five years ago as a way to engage community leaders with Hope faculty and staff and to focus and improve connectedness between the community and the college.

Hope Fund staff involves alumni with various businesses and those who are donors to the college. These donors, if located close enough to the college or Holland, get personal visits during the Community Campaign on Wednesday.

In addition to personal visits, hundreds more businesses and friends of Hope College will receive letters requesting a contribution.

Feldkamp estimates the total number of people contacted is eight hundred.

"It gives community business leaders a feeling of 'ownership' in Hope," she says. "It helps build and maintain relationships."

Hope Fund chairman Ted Etheridge, CEO of Steketee-Van Huis, Inc, told reporters for KnowHope he thinks that Hope has, over the years, "embraced and supported the business community as well as or better than any of the other colleges in the area."

This year, the Holland/Zeeland Community Campaign is expected to raise close to $260,000 for the Hope Fund.

According to the Hope Advancement Staff web page, the Hope Fund seeks "ongoing, unrestricted financial support from alumni, corporations, churches, parents and friends for operations and programs at the college."

In this case, "unrestricted" means that those who contribute make general endorsement and no restriction as to what their money goes to support.

The Hope Fund supports student financial aid. Bill Anderson, Senior Vice President for Finance and Development estimated that the Hope Fund supplies approximately twenty percent of the $16,000,000 in financial aid awarded to Hope students annually.

This year, the Hope Fund is expected to raise $3,000,000 for the college.

Campus Briefs

Grant helps students enhance Literacy skills

An effort to help students at Hope College learn to use information technology more effectively has received support from the SBC Ameritech Partnership Awards for Independent Colleges program.

Hope is one of five Michigan colleges or universities to receive one of the $10,000 awards for 2001.

The college's project will link members of the English and library faculty in developing ways to help students in the college's first-year composition courses learn how to find and use appropriate information technology in research and writing.

Hope schedules about 37 sections of its first-year composition course, English 113, each year.

About 20 members of the English faculty and the college's five teaching librarians work with the course, which enrolls nearly all of Hope's 700-plus freshman.

The course includes instruction in using the resources available through the college's Van Wylen Library.

Through the grant, members of the English and library faculties involved in English 113 will meet during the spring and summer to consider how to efficiently incorporate information technology- such as electronic databases, web-based finding aids, electronic journals and electronic books- in the college's information literacy program.

Faculty will be collaborating and seeking ways to help students find and use information technology in research and writing.

The result of their efforts will go into effect beginning with the fall 2002 semester.

International Food Fair on Saturday, Nov 10

The annual International Food Fair at Hope College will take place on Saturday, November 10, beginning at 6:30 p.m. In the Mass Center Auditorium. Tickets for the dishes being served will be available at the door. Tickets are $0.50 each, with most dishes costing three to four tickets. A book of recipes will also be available for $3.

The international students at Hope have sponsored the event every year for more than 25 years. The International Food Fair is a celebration of the many cuisines and cultures represented at Hope. Nations represented will include Argentina, England, France, India, Japan, Romania, Sri Lanka, and Tajikistan.

In addition to the cuisine, the food fair will feature educational displays concerning the cultures participating; some of the students will wear traditional attire.

The event will continue until 8 p.m.

Tavern 215

est. 2000

"Great Grub - Cool Pub"

*****

Join us for a study break with

LIVE MUSIC

every Sunday 4 - 8 pm

"Lullen Anderson"

acoustic guitar

*****

Located Downtown Saugatuck

215 Butler Street
Saugatuck, Michigan 49453
616-857-1215

ANCHOR PHOTO BY ROB ONDRA

Jackie Ryczek ('02) volunteered with other CASA members last week, carving pumpkins donated by the Mortar Board with CASA youngsters.

TASK FORCE from 1

"I agreed to chair the Task Force for a couple of reasons. I saw it as an opportunity to serve the College by helping our community address a challenging set of concerns. I also wanted the opportunity to work with the other people the President was asking to serve on the Task Force," Herrick said.

The committee will be composed of students, a board member, administrators, faculty, and Tim Brown, dean of the Chapel.

President Bultman further clarified the role of the Task Force in his Presidential Update. "The mandate of the task force will be to review the college attempts at educating about human sexuality including, but not limited to, homosexuality, research the educational activities of other Christian liberal arts colleges, evaluate the treatment of homosexual students at Hope College, explore how the college can best exhibit care and compassion for those with a homosexual orientation, and examine what periodic educational experiences would be beneficial for the campus community, including especially those entering the helping professions," Bultman said.

Other colleges will be looked to by the President and the committee in providing an example on how to deal with issues of sexuality on campus.

We certainly will look at how other campuses have addressed issues related to homosexuality, and larger issues of sexuality generally. Members of the campus community have been very helpful in providing links, documents, and other sources of information," Herrick said.

Bultman shows optimism that the committee will accomplish its goal to clarify issues dealing with sexuality.

"I believe this is a highly capable Task Force that will address this matter thoroughly and with wisdom," Bultman said. The role of the committee has been set by Bultman, and the committee understands what their role is, and what they must accomplish.

"There is emphasis in our charge on exploring how the College can best exhibit care and compassion for those of a homosexual orientation, as well as reviewing educational efforts on campus. We have also been asked to review the treatment of homosexual members of the community," Herrick said. "Our committee's role will be to make recommendations back to the President, but we will not ourselves set or implement policies."

RISK POLICY from 1

fraternity Council are the governing bodies of Hope's fraternities and sororities, and will now take a more active role in overseeing Greek life.

"Being a group of integrity means that you aren't abusing the law," Fisher said, referring to the new Greek effort to encourage the Hope community to focus on the positive points of Greek life, rather than the negative ones.

Fisher and Matt Workman ('01), President of both the Interfraternity Council and the Emersonian fraternity, are hopeful that the new policies will improve the image of Greek life at Hope College. They cited the "Animal House Stigma" as one that they would like to defeat.

The current risk management policy has been around for two years, but until now has been essentially unrecognized. However, Workman now describes the policy as "a necessity." According to Fisher, such Greek movements are becoming more and more common at colleges all over the United States.

"We have talked a lot this year about changing the way we're seen on campus," Fisher said. A recent Greek retreat, open to all Greeks, was intended to bring Hope's Greek system together and to discuss issues regarding Greek life and Hope College.

"I think everyone's enthusiastic [about the new changes]," Fisher added.

Mortar board carves pumpkins with CASA

Matt Cook
EDITOR IN CHIEF

Many children from the Holland community got to carve a pumpkin for the first time last week.

Mortar Board teamed up with Children's After School Achievement (CASA) for a Halloween pumpkin carving event on Monday the 29th and Wednesday the 30th.

The members of Mortar Board came up with the idea after brainstorming a number of things they could do to help the community.

"It was a good idea and we just took off and ran with it," said Liz Schofield ('02), the Mortar Board member responsible for organizing the event.

CASA's accessibility played a role in the decision.

"It's a good cause right here on campus," Schofield said. "We thought of kids who would be in need and we thought of CASA."

Mortar Board set up and cleaned up the event and they also provided the pumpkins.

"It was a great time for all of us and a chance for two great Hope organizations to work together," said Jim Hull ('02), president of Mortar Board.

Hull said that this was the first time many of the children ever carved a pumpkin.

Schofield doesn't know if Mortar Board will organize this event again, but she hopes it becomes traditional.

"I think it would be a great idea to become an annual thing," Schofield said.

CASA is an after school tutoring program for elementary aged children from the community.

Mortar Board is a national honor society of students with a dedication to academics and community service.

Happenings in November

Join us for Survivor Thursdays.
Every week take your chances and win lots of great prizes!

Monday November 12

National "pizza with the works except anchovies" day
Get it for $1.00 a slice

Tuesday November 20

Customer Appreciation Day

Free popcorn and soda (8 ounce)

Get entered to win dinner and a movie for two just by using your debit card!

sex has consequences | www.teenpregnancy.org

Movies

Hope College
Social Activities
Committee

This week:

Shrek

Only $2

Free popcorn!

Showtimes:

7:00

9:30

12:00

48th annual All College Sing this weekend

Ashley North

STAFF REPORTER

The All College Sing is not your typical talent show. It's a vocal debate with forty-seven years behind it, and this year it will take place on Saturday, November 10 at 8 p.m. in the Knickerbocker Theater.

In 1940, the very first official All College Sing was held in the Pine Grove as a competition between sororities. Due to its immense popularity, it was expanded to include all of the Greek organizations, fraternities and sororities alike. Because of World War II, the All College Sing was canceled from 1943 to 1946.

Over the next three decades it grew into an event so looked forward to, that it rivaled even the favorite traditions of the Pull and Nykerk. In 1976, the Social Activities Committee, (SAC), invited all Hope students to participate in the once Greek tradition. The tradition continued throughout the eighties and early nineties. In 1998, the All College Sing was forced to be canceled because of the lack of a proper venue, but the event returned in 1999.

This year's All College Sing will feature Hope students with vocal and instrumental talents, who have auditioned for a spot in the show. The event is similar to the Talent Jam held in the spring, with the exception that the focus of the All College Sing is on singing.

The 2001 All College Sing lineup consists of Jason Montgomery ('03), Abbie Matthews ('05), Two Girls and a Cello, Not So Scott, Sarah Proulx ('02), Chris Bryan ('04), Brad Jerdon ('02), Megan Helm ('02), Lyle!, and Lisa Bauer ('05). Performances will be judged upon the four main categories of quality of talent, expression and variation, creativity, and overall presentation.

Each act will be competing for a chance to take home a cash prize which will be awarded to first, second and third place winners. The judges include Hope College professors, some resident directors, and other community members.

"There is a great lineup of student talent, so it should be a fun and interesting time," said Dan Morrison ('04), SAC member and All College Sing special events chairperson.

Participant Sarah Proulx ('02) will be performing a piece she wrote on her own while playing the piano. Like Sarah, a majority of the songs being performed are original compositions written by the participants.

"Attending the All College Sing is a great opportunity to hear new and original music that you would otherwise never get the chance to experience," Proulx said.

ANCHOR PHOTO BY BETH LOMASNEY

Some members of Lyle!, Jeff Templeton ('03), Ben Fedak ('03), Hartwell Gary ('01), rehearse for Saturday. Lyle! won "Best of Show" last year.

In addition to the student acts, this year's show will feature the professional comedian, Mark Eddie, as the master of ceremonies.

"Come Saturday night, you could decide to go see a comedian, or you could go to a talent show. With the All College Sing, you get the best of both worlds," Moron said.

Tickets for the All College Sing can be bought at the SUD for $3, or $4 at the door.

Hope students publish poems in literary journal

Beth Lomasney

ARTS EDITOR

When Poetry Professor Jack Ridl sent word of a call for submissions to his advanced poetry students, two students rushed to meet a quick deadline with a prepared pen.

The Beloit Poetry Journal asked for work from poets ages twenty-five and under for their Spring 2001 issue. Katie Bode-Lang ('02) and Julie Green ('02) submitted without a backwards glance, and received thick envelopes in the mail one month later.

Bode-Lang, a recipient of the Distinguished Artist's Award for creative writing upon her entrance to Hope, has been writing poetry for as long as she can remember, yet college has been "a wonderful chance to develop."

"I worked really hard on my accepted poem in Poetry 455 last semester. The poem is one of my longest, and it actually has a lot to do with the astronomy work I've been doing," Bode-Lang said. "It ties in with a Night Sky class I'd taken with Professor Gonthier."

Bode-Lang had never submitted to a magazine before, and she is "embarrassed to admit" her method of submission.

"I got the e-mail about the call for submissions so late, I ended up Priority Mailing," Bode-Lang said. "I thought it was the stupidest thing I'd ever done."

Bode-Lang may be spending $3 a poetry submission in the future, but her method has sure worked. She is thrilled to have her work appear in such a literary source.

"I feel really honored, especially since there are so many good writers here under twenty-five," Bode-Lang said. "Everyone has been so excited for me. It is nice to have Hope's support."

Green, who has previously had a column published in "Woman's Life" magazine, has only been writing poetry for just over a year. She submitted to the journal upon Ridl's suggestion with a four-day deadline.

"I stayed up all night in the kitchen with my pen and my computer, revising my poems," Green said. "I bought some envelopes the next morning and sent them off."

Green, who is currently applying to MFA programs in poetry, is influenced by poets such as Gary Soto, Mark Strand, and Mary Oliver, for their ability to "intrigue readers without explanation."

"They're part enigma, and if I could explain what draws me to them, I would lose some of what is unique about them," Green said.

Green, who will have three poems printed in the journal, describes seeing her poems in print as "frightening but exciting."

"I am generally a private person, and these words feel like public announcements," Green said. "It's like looking at the audience and trying to imagine them in their underwear. You can't really do it, because you can't usually see the audience, but it makes you laugh anyway."

For more information on the Beloit Poetry Journal, visit their website at www.bpj.org.

PHOTO COURTESY PUBLIC REALTIONS

David Shifrin, Artistic Director and clarinetist for CMS.

Chamber Society is next in line for GPS

Maureen Yonovitz

SENIOR STAFF REPORTER

On Friday, November 9 at 8 p.m., three members of the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center (CMS) will be performing at Dimnent Chapel as a part of the Great Performance Series. This accomplished group has been performing for over 30 years and has consistently received high reviews.

"CMS is perhaps the best collection of chamber musicians in the world," said Derek Emerson, Hope College Arts Coordinator.

The Society is made up of approximately 20 members, who split up into smaller groups for different performances. The group that will be playing for this particular performance consists of clarinetist and CMS Artistic Director David Shifrin, pianist Anne-Marie McDermott, and cellist Fred Sherry. The performance features a piece specially written for the trio by contemporary composer Aaron Jay Kernis. The November 9 performance will be the second time it has ever been performed.

"Kernis is a great composer, and I'm anxious to hear what he has put together specifically for these three musicians," Emerson said.

Along with the Kernis piece, the group will also be performing well-known classics by Beethoven and Brahms.

"Many people do not realize the great writing that is still occurring in classical music, and CMS has championed contemporary music for years," Emerson said. "The program they have planned is a wonderful mix of the classic and the new."

Tickets are $14 for adults, $12 for seniors and Hope faculty and staff, and $5 for students and children under 18.

They will be available at the ticket office in the theatre lobby of DeWitt Thursday-Friday, November 8-9, open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Remaining tickets will be available at the door. Call the ticket office at 395-7890 to purchase tickets in advance.

Hope Happenings:

Knickerbocker Film Series, Tues.-Thurs. 11/5-8, 7 p.m., & 9:15 p.m.
"Divided We Fall"

GPS: Chamber Music Soc. of Lincoln Center, Fri., 11/9, 8 p.m.
Dimnent Chapel

All College Sing, Sat., 11/10, 8 p.m.
Knickerbocker Theater

Visiting Writers Series
Lan Samantha Chang & Richard Jones, Thurs., 11/15, 7 p.m.
Jazz at 6:30 p.m.
Knickerbocker Theater

WHAT'S UP?

Cool Beans Coffee House
Wednesdays, 9-11 p.m.
Kletz

Hope Theater, "Inspector General", Fri.-Sat., 11/16-17, 8 p.m., DeWitt Center Main Theatre

Student-choreographed Dance Concerts, Mon.-Tues., 11/19-20, 8 p.m., Knickerbocker Theater

2001 Christmas Vespers student tickets on sale: Mon.-Tues., 11/12-13 9-11:30 a.m. & 1-4 p.m.
1 ticket = $1! Purchase at Student Union Desk

Out & About:

Dance; Grand Rapids newest dance club
616-752-8159

Comedy Den, Grand Rapids
Fri., Sat. 8 & 10:30 p.m.
616-949-9322

44th St. Village Inn Karaoke
Thurs., Fri., Sat. 9:30-1:30 a.m., singers must be 21

"Las Calaveras: Dia de los Muertos," 10/12-1/5/02
Holland Area Arts Council

Barnes & Noble, 3670 28th St. Kentwood, "explore a book and its author", Wed.'s 7 p.m., 949-2211

Singing, Acting, Speaking:

'04 defeats '05 in the 67th annual Nykerk
Cup Competition.

Saturday, November 3, 2001

ANCHOR PHOTOS BY CLARISSA
GREGORY AND REBEKAH OEGEMA

Renee Mursch ('02), Nykerk general chair, presided over Saturday's event.

Nykerk judges were responsible for declaring the winners in three different events:
song, play and oration.

Meredith DeAvila ('04) used hand motions to emphasize her points during the oration.

'05 Song Moralers congratulate themselves on a job well done.

The Nykerk Cup

Dopey, played by '05, lets his general Dopey

Odd year song girls sing about their guy.

Andrea Wellman ('05) and Li ('05) are on a mission. The '05 year play featured a mix of fairy tales.

Huzzah! '05 Moral guys have the power of gourd.

d by Grace Pollert tongue hang out in ness.

Even year song girls let their light shine.

The Nykerk cup
awaits presentation
to the winners of the competition.

Rennee Mursh
(‘02) Nykerk
general chair
gives the opening address.

‘04 Play finds themselves magically whisked off the mystical land of Holland-Oz.

WIO launches own ad campaign against ads with women's body image stereotypes

The Women's Issues Organization uses ads with negative stereotypes for a positive purpose.

Angela Matusiak
STAFF REPORTER

The Women's Issues Organization (WIO) has launched a new campaign this semester that deals with body images of women presented in the media.

The members of WIO took magazine ads that sexualized and objectified women and modified them to take a stand against the messages behind the ads.

The ads run from having a humorous tone to sad, but they all make a stand on stereotyping women in the media. The campaign was inspired by "Guerilla Girls," a group of actors/activists from New York that protest sexism through their artwork.

WIO decided to follow their footsteps in activism through artwork, and the campaign to modify these ads was born.

Each WIO member that felt moved to do so found an ad that portrayed a negative image and did his or her own artwork and renderings to blatantly expose the truths behind the ads.

Travis Bower ('02) and Heather Verbeke ('03) have taken charge of this initiative. They have worked on the campaign for about three weeks, and on Wednesday, November 7, they will put up the fruits of their labor on the walls of campus buildings.

Verbeke feels extremely passionate about this issue.

"So many people struggle with self-esteem issues. But I am constantly reminded that these images are not for me; they are not what beauty should be defined as," Verbeke said.

Bower said that these negative images don't just affect women but men also.

"It's not really about fashion, supermodels, or that being skinny is evil. It's about not taking the ads so seriously. As a culture, we shouldn't take those as standards, because for the most part, they are unattainable," Bower said.

Verbeke also went on to talk about how all the images in magazines are airbrushed to begin with.

"We won't be fooled, be deceived, anymore," Verbeke said.

Often, women reading these magazines get an unrealistic impression of what women's bodies should look like, and they base their self-worth on whether or not they measure up.

"If one girl stops relying on her 'Glamour' magazine as the standard she measures herself to, then our campaign is a success," Verbeke said.

Right now, WIO isn't planning any more with this campaign, but

Chad Sampson

Production editor

GRAPHIC COURTESY OF WIO

if it does turn out to be a huge success, they may continue. The Women's Issues Organization is open to all students and faculty, both men and women.

They believe that there are still a lot of injustices to women, "whether it be as brutal as rape, or as subtle as these images," said Bower.

The number one wish for American teenage girls, ages 11-17 is to be thinner. 80% of ten year-old girls have dieted, and at any given time 50% of the women in America are dieting. 75% of women with average body weight see themselves as overweight, and 90% of women overestimate the size of their bodies. Underfed models are presented to us, men and women, as the norm for health, beauty, and sex appeal. The purpose of this WIO-sponsored ad campaign is to raise awareness of how we view our bodies in relation to the bodies we are shown by the media - unhealthy expectations which can lead to eating disorders and unhealthy body image.

For everyone else, there's reality.

GRAPHIC COURTESY OF WIO

Master's in Clinical Social Work

LOYOLA UNIVERSITY CHICAGO

The MSW at Loyola:

- Nationally known
- Accredited since 1914
- Clinical specializations: adults, children, couples, elderly, families, health, and school social work
- Four dual degree programs: MSW and Child Development (MS); law (JD); Divinity (MDiv); or Child and Family Law (MJ)

Also available at Loyola: BSW and PhD degree programs

Chicago's Jesuit University
LOYOLA UNIVERSITY CHICAGO
Graduate School of Social Work

M.S.W. Admissions:
Jude Gonzales
at 312.915.7289
E-mail: jgonza@luc.edu

www.luc.edu/schools/socialwork/

Loyola University Chicago is an equal opportunity educator and employer. ©2001 Loyola University of Chicago.

SOLE MAN

Distributing Ignorance

This Monday, I walked into the Anchor office and a friend of mine handed me a small rectangular comic book he found on the ATM in DeWitt. On the cover of this book was the title "Holy Joe" and in the corner were the initials J.T.C.: Jack T. Chick. I couldn't help but moan.

I first encountered these tracts back in high school. I remember looking at one titled "Are Roman Catholics Christian?" with one of my teachers, who just happened to be Catholic.

The book had a long list of reasons why Catholics were not Christian. The list accused Catholics of worshipping Mary, repeating the sacrifice of Christ, believing in transubstantiation- all sins against the Bible, according to Chick.

The tract went on to say Jesus calls the Catholic Church the great whore. If I remember correctly, I almost became physically sick.

I decided to do some investigation into the Jack T. Chick tracts. I found out that Jack T. Chick tracts were little comic books designed to convert people to born-again Christianity. People are told to hand out the tracts or leave them in common places where others will pick them up.

Some examples of tracts are "The Crisis, a Jehovah's Witness accepts Christ just in time to save his girl's life", "Party Girl, a young woman's brush with death reveals Satan's plot for her destruction," and "Doom Town, story of Sodom. Delivers a compassionate plea to repent of homosexuality."

To make a long story short I was disgusted after reading the Catholic tract, but I was absolutely appalled when I read more of the tracts. They are a collection of stories not meant to tell people what is great about being a Christian, but rather the supposed horrible consequences for people who aren't; even good people. From what I have seen, about half the pamphlets are designed to convert practicing Christians to the right form Christianity rather than introducing non-Christians to the faith.

Hope College is a community of learning and exploring. Through education we are supposed to learn how to relate better with our fellow human beings, but these pamphlets breed nothing but intolerance and hatred. I don't know if I can think of anything farther from the message of Jesus than these two ideas.

Too often today I have seen Christians obsessed with right belief at any cost and forgetting that God also calls for right action and right love.

Anybody who wants to can distribute these tracts; they have freedom of speech. Nobody understands this and wants it more than members of a newspaper staff. We also understand, however, that there is a great responsibility that comes along with freedom of speech. We should be sure that what we are saying is meaningful and intelligent, that a lot of thought has gone into it and that we are ready to accept criticism of those words.

So in that spirit I am going to exercise my freedom of speech.

People claim that these pamphlets have converted many people. For my part however, when I read these pamphlets I am ashamed to call myself a Christian. There is too much mystery and beauty in life to be sure enough of the answers that we are willing to tell other people that they are wrong.

Don't take most of what you believe too seriously, because with our limited knowledge and understanding, it's most likely wrong.

Nationwide campus security report for the year 2000 shows drop in crime at Hope

Erica Heeg
INFOCUS EDITOR

A nationwide statistical report of criminal offenses for colleges and universities during the year 2000 was released several weeks ago. The report is provided by the Office of Postsecondary Education and required from colleges and universities by the Department of Education. In the report Hope College showed a decrease in numbers from previous years.

In the year 2000, there were twenty one-campus arrests at Hope. Fifteen of them were for liquor law violations, four for drug law violations, and one for an illegal weapon possession. The same number of disciplinary actions and judicial referrals were reported. The number of arrests was down from twenty-seven in 1999 and twenty-nine in 1998. There were fifteen criminal offenses reported on-campus in 2000, twelve for burglary and three for arson. This number is also down from thirty-one criminal offenses in 1999. Zero hate offenses, criminal offenses that manifest evidence of prejudice based on race, religion, sexual orientation, gender, disability, or ethnicity, were documented last year.

Greg Maybury, director of operations and technology, is pleased with the safety of Hope's campus. "There have been no major crimes; we have been fortunate," Maybury said. "We are fairly isolated here in West Michigan."

But Hope is not free of crime. "Although the many attractive buildings and well-maintained grounds lend a relaxed and somewhat carefree atmosphere to our college community, we do, however, experience some of the same crime problems which exist in any urban environment. In fact, by our very nature, we tend to be an inviting target for crime," a brochure published by Public Safety said.

Stealing is one of the problems that Public Safety must deal with often.

"The biggest crime on campus would be larceny. Thefts of bikes, books, and backpacks," Maybury said.

The crimes that do occur on campus are posted each day on Knowhope, under the "Student Right-to-Know" and Campus Security Act of 1990.

"We want to make the students aware of how crimes can occur and what the level of crime may be," said Maybury.

He hopes that by posting incidents students will be more careful and watchful.

"Members of our community are at times less than careful about guarding their property and that of the College; students often walk unfamiliar street areas alone at late night hours; and often people become preoccupied while walking around the College grounds, forgetting to be aware of their surroundings," said a Public Safety brochure.

ANCHOR PHOTO BY KRISSY SCHANTZ
Officer works for safety at Hope.

The nationwide report gives statistics for over colleges and universities nationwide. Calvin College reported three on-campus arrests, all for liquor law violations. However, fifty-six on-campus disciplinary actions and judicial referrals were documented. Nine criminal offenses and zero hate offenses were reported for 2000.

During the year 2000 at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, there were 453 on-campus arrests and 490 disciplinary actions and judicial referrals, most concerning liquor and drug law violations. 158 on-campus criminal offenses, with ninety of those being related to burglary, were reported. One hate offense was reported.

By October 1 of each year, the Office of Postsecondary Education of the United States Department of Education requires that colleges and universities that are Title IV eligible be required to publish and distribute annual campus security reports to all current students and employees. These reports for over 6000 colleges and universities nationwide are compiled onto the Office of Postsecondary Education Statistics Website, authorized by Congress in the 1998 amendment to the Higher Education Act of 1965.

This website is designed to help potential students and current students stay informed about the safety various schools. All statistics represent alleged criminal offenses reported to campus security and do not necessarily reflect prosecutions or crimes. The website can be accessed at <http://ope.ed.gov/Security/Search.asp>.

Criminal Incidents Reported to the Hope College Department of Public Safety

Statistics	Offenses
	2000	1999	1998
Murder	0	0	0
Manslaughter	0	0	0
Criminal Sexual Conduct/Contact	0	1	1
Arson	3	4	0
Robbery	0	0	0
Aggravated Assault	0	0	0
Burglary, Involving Larceny	9	5	4
Burglary, Unlawful Entry Only	3	17	4
Motor Vehicle Theft	0	4	1
Offenses Involving Hate Crimes	0	0	0
Arrests
Weapons Possession	1	1	0
Violations of Controlled Substances	4	3	2
Operating Vehicle Under Influence	18	12	1
Liquor Laws	15	23	27

Staying safe at Hope: it's common sense

1. Walk with groups of people; try to avoid walking alone
2. Be with people that you trust
3. Don't take chances
4. Don't go places that aren't well supervised
5. Don't stay out late at night
6. Let people know where you are
7. Don't believe Hope is just a bubble.
8. Use shuttle vans
9. Be sure to have your entry card
10. Use common sense

	On-Campus Arrests	Disciplinary Actions	On-Campus Criminal Offenses
Hope College	20	20	15
Calvin College	3	56	9
University of Michigan	453	490	158
Northwestern University	76	477	38
Michigan State University	1027	401	194
Harvard University	8	80	475
Albion College	0	155	16

Statistics for the academic year 2000 are provided by the Office of Postsecondary Education Campus Security Statistics Website

Editor's voice

What's best for us

In his Presidential Update announcing the formation of the Task Force on Sexuality, President Bultman wrote that the mandate of the Task Force is to address the issue of sexuality "in the context of biblical authority, the Reformed Church in America and Hope College positions, constituency and community expectations, and educational research literature."

As evidenced by the events of the past few years, sexuality is a huge issue for the students of Hope College. However, Bultman does not seem interested in asking us our opinion. We the students, the most important population of the college, don't even make the list. Does he think we don't care?

I care about the issue of sexuality, but I don't expect to be asked for my opinion. They've never asked me about anything in the past. Unfortunately unlike me, most students don't have the opportunity to share their opinions with the campus every week, but that doesn't mean they don't care. I don't expect the Task Force to ask for their opinion either.

But, they will consult the Bible, the RCA and the rich white conservative men who pay for 70 percent of our education (what Bultman means by "constituency expectations.")

In my experience, this administration has demonstrated over and over again that they care more about that money than the happiness of the student body, so you can forgive me if I don't expect much from this Task Force.

The people who run this college are afraid of us. They think that, if left to our own devices, we would make bad decisions. They think they know what's best for us. At least, that what's apparent to me from Bultman's statements.

The constituency may not want a Gay Straight Alliance at Hope College, but I'd be willing to bet that most students would support such a group. I, for one, would take a risk on losing some money to do the right thing.

We are Hope College, they are not. They do not know what's best for us, and all you have to do is read through the past four years of the Anchor to find proof of that.

Watch this space

Last year, Student Congress used $500 of the student activity fee to buy this scrolling marquee sign in the lobby of the DeWitt Center. Although active last year, the sign has yet to display anything this year. As a service to you, the Anchor will keep track of how many weeks it has been blank in the 2001 fall semester.

Today's
Count: 11

Letters to the Editor Guidelines

Open to anyone within the college and related communities

The Anchor reserves the right to edit due to space constraints

No personal attacks, poor taste or anything potentially libelous

Letters chosen on a first come first serve basis, or a representative sample is taken

No anonymous letters, unless discussed with Editor-in-Chief

Editor-in-Chief may verify identity of writer

Mail letters to the Anchor c/o Hope College, drop them off at the Anchor office (located in the center of Dewitt, behind WTHS), or e-mail anchor@hope.edu

Classified

ACT NOW!!! Guarantee the best SPRING BREAK PRICES! South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica, Bahamas, Acapulco, Florida, & Mardi Gras. Reps needed....travel free, earn$$$ Group Discounts for 6+. 800-838-8203/ www.leisuretours.com

Spring Break 2002!!! Student Express is now hiring sales reps. Cancun features FREE meals and parties @ Fat Tuesdays- MTV Beach Headquarters. Acapulco, Mazatlan, Jamaica, Bahamas, South Padre, Florida. Prices from $469, with Major Airlines. 24,000 travelers in 2001. Call 800-787-3787 for a FREE brochure.

Fraternities - Sororities - Clubs - Student Groups Earn $1,000-$2,000 this semester with the east Campusfundraiser.com three hour fundraising event. Does not involve credit card applications. Fundraising dates are filling quickly, so call today! Contact Campusfundraiser.com.

Room For Rent: Responsible person, reference & deposit, laundry, cable, use of home. $360 per month. 393-8110

The Show Without a Home: 6-8 p.m. on Saturday. WTHS 89.9

Piglet- You make my dreams come true and I love you! -Ribbons

Happy 20th Birthday Deonnie. I hope it's terrific -Shawn

Boy in the third Row- I'm sorry that couldn't meet you to study Berkeley yesterday I caught a cold stuffing a dead chicken full of snow. But I have been having this nonphysical experience, existing apart from my physical nature, about you. -Girl in the third row

Jules and MyLee- I don't know how I would make it without you guys. -C

Wanted- left roller skate, not right. If you call this number with a right roller skate heads will roll. I'm not kidding I know Karate, Kungfu, Kenjitsu and four other Japanese words. My mom tried to give me a right roller skate once and had lock my self in the toilet, it wasn't a pretty sight.

Jordana and Anne- You guys are beautiful. See you on Thursday. -HC

Steve- I'm sorry that you feel that way, but I've been thinking a lot about my old boyfriend from home. I think that I will start dating him again... and please quite camping outside my room and singing love songs, it's pathetic. -Tarah

To our readers in Russia- Don't worry, I'm still thinking of you. Watch the mail, I'm going to write you a letter tonight.

This is Ceti Alpha 5!

Andrew, Steve, Paulie, Susanah: I'm looking forward to the porch this weekend. And the weekend after that...and the weekend after that...

Anchor staff: even though I yell at you a lot, I really appreciate all your hard work. -Matt

You're probably wondering about the Ranchor, and so you should. Don't worry, it'll be here next week and it'll be funny.

Anchor meetings are at 9 p.m. on Wednesday and 6 p.m. on Sunday in the Anchor office. All are welcome.

Anchor Staff

editor-in-chief Matt Cook
production editor Chad Sampson
campus beat editors Courtney Klein
James Pierce
infocus editors Erica Heeg
Andy Volk
sports editor Rand Arwady
arts editor Beth Lomasney
spotlight editor Jen Troke
photo editor Rob Ondra
copy editor Rebekah Oegema
business manager Danielle Koski
ad representative Nick Denis
production assistant Rachael Pridgeon distribution manager Ellen Vigants
advisor Diana Breclaw

Senior Staff Reporters:

Ben DeHaan, John Rodstrom, Maureen Yonovitz

Staff Reporters:

Becca Haynes, Kurt Koehler, Alicia Abood, Ashley North, Angela Matusiak, Jared Gall

Staff Photo:

Clarissa Gregory

The Anchor is a product of student effort and is funded through the students of Hope College, funding which comes through the Hope College Student Congress Appropriations Committee. Letters to the editor are encouraged, though due to space limitations the Anchor reserves the right to edit. The opinions addressed in the editorial are solely those of the editor-in-chief. Stories from the Hope College News Service are a product of the Public Relations Office. One-year subscriptions to the Anchor are available for $20. We reserve the right to accept or reject any advertising.

the Anchor

2001 fall semester, Issue #10 of 25

Eclipse Professional Styling Salon

575 College Ave.
Holland, MI 49423

616 395 9570

HALF OFF!

For Hope Students in the month of November

Volleyball season ends in loss to Calvin

John Rodstrom
SENIOR STAFF REPORTER

All good things must come to an end, and such was the case for the Hope College women's volleyball team on Saturday night as they fell to archrival Calvin College, 30-21, 30-26, 30-22. The Knights will move on to the NCAA tournament and the Flying Dutch finish the season with a 20-14 record and an MIAA championship.

The Flying Dutch reached the MIAA tournament finals by sweeping Kalamazoo College on Friday, 30-25, 30-20, 30-22.

"I was really happy with the way we played on Friday. We came out strong and were confident and played one of our best matches that we've had all season," said Maureen Dunn, Hope head coach. "I'm still unsure as to why we came out so flat on Saturday. I think Calvin played very well, but we made so many errors that we never really got into our own rhythm."

The Calvin game marked the first time the Flying Dutch had lost at home all season, coming into the match with a 9-0 home record.

"It was a little different playing against Calvin having a lot of Calvin fans there. You're not used to have cheering when you make mistakes in your own gym," Dunn said.

Martha Luidens ('03) led the Flying Dutch on Saturday with 14 kills, while Laura Hahnfeld ('03) and Kara VanAssen ('03) added 8 kills a piece. McKenna Troyan ('04) also added 31 assists.

Despite the disappointment on Saturday, the Flying Dutch still had a very successful season, overcoming setbacks and winning 20 games for the fourth time in five years under Coach Dunn.

It was an interesting year for Hope, having to deal with Dunn being on and off for four weeks in the middle of the season while on maternity leave.

"I certainly appreciate the help that my assistant coach, Jill VanderStoep, gave as far as sort of stepping into my role when I wasn't there," Dunn said. "I think she did a fantastic job, but having two head coaches that have pretty different coaching styles around is difficult for the players."

After their co-championship season, the Flying Dutch are looking to do well in the MIAA again next year. Hope will only be graduating two players from this year's squad. Right side hitter Molly Henson ('02) and middle blocker Amy Brower ('02).

"We have a core of starters returning and we should be strong next year as well. What we'll miss is their leadership. Brower and Henson have been the heart of the Hope team for the past year," Dunn said. "Amy's the kind of person that leads by example and works 120 percent and demands respect by the way she carries herself. Molly came into more of a leadership role this year and was really motivational to the other players by pushing them to perform their best."

Brower was voted the MIAA's

ANCHOR PHOTO BY RAND ARWADY

Laura Hahnfeld ('03) and Amy Brower ('02) prepare to return the serve during the MIAA tournament last weekend. Hope lost in the finals against Calvin in three sets.

most valuable player, and also named to the MIAA first team. Joining her on the first team was Van Assen.

On the second team were Luidens and Hahnfeld.

The next step for the Flying Dutch is the non-traditional spring season, a new addition to the schedule this year.

The schedule consists of three weeks of two practices a week, so six practices in all.

"It isn't that much but it does give them some guidance as to what they can do on their own as far as developing their individual skills which we haven't had in the past," Dunn said. "The more they can focus on the basics in the summer, the less time we have to spend on the basics next fall."

Coach Dunn is keeping in mind the big picture, and hopes to carry the team's optimism into next season.

"It's not all about wins and losses, it's about what the girls learn throughout the season and the relationships they make," Dunn said.

W-Basketball ready to roll

Rand Arwady
SPORTS EDITOR

Hope College women's basketball had a remarkable season to remember last year, and then a final game to forget.

After breaking a Hope record of 25 wins in one season, winning the MIAA by going undefeated in the league, going 25-3 on the season, being ranked third in the country going into the NCAA tournament, being the one seed in the region, a first round bye and then hosting Ohio Wesleyan in the Dow Center, the team's amazing year came to an end with a 72-71 loss in the final seconds to Ohio Wesleyan.

The Flying Dutch will have a chance to make up for last season's early exit from the NCAA tournament when they host Ohio Wesleyan in their first game of the season on Friday November 16 in the Dow Center as part of the Hope Tipoff Tournament.

"We want to come back and prove that we should have won that game last year," said Amy

Baltmanis ('03), Hope guard. "It means a lot for us to be able to come back and redeem ourselves for that last second loss."

When Ohio Wesleyan shows up to play the Flying Dutch they will see almost the same Hope squad from a year ago. Last year's squad only had one senior Kristin Koenigsnecht ('01), and the rest of the team (for the most part) is back.

This year's team will be bidding for an unprecedented third consecutive outright MIAA championship. They will have head coach Brian Morehouse leading the way in his sixth season. Last season Morehouse was voted the Michigan collegiate women's basketball coach of the year and the Great Lakes Region Division III coach of the year. He has coached Hope to an average of 19 wins a season.

Leading the way for Hope this year will be four senior veterans; guards Becky Sutton ('02) and Jodi Boom ('02), and forwards Amy Brower ('02) and Laura Poppema ('02). Hope will also have back Amanda Kerkstra ('03), back from her fall semester sabbatical in Australia. She was voted the MIAA's most valuable player last season. Kerkstra was also voted to the Division III News women's basketball All-America third team.

Last season Poppema joined Kerkstra on the MIAA first team and Baltmanis was named to the second team.

In the DIII hoops.com preseason rankings, Hope is picked fourth. Last year's runner up Messiah is this season's number one selection.

Hope has some goals before going into play this season.

"Our goal is to win the MIAA again, go undefeated in league like last year, but not to underestimate anybody we play," Baltmanis said. "Everyone's biggest game is when they play us."

In Baltmanis' freshmen year, Hope went 20-5 on the year but failed to win the MIAA tournament. Then the Flying Dutch were not given an at-large bid for the NCAA tournament. They want to make sure they win the MIAA tournament this season so that doesn't happen again this season.

ANCHOR PHOTO BY ROB ONDRA

Amy Baltmanis ('03) goes up for a jumper during a game against Calvin last season.

"We don't want to leave it up to anyone else, we want to control our own destiny," Baltmanis said.

Hope will host Grand Valley State University in a scrimmage this Friday at 6 p.m. in the Dow.

DANCE FRIDAY NOV 9th 9-12

Benefits cancer patients in need!

Mass Auditorium

VEGAS NIGHT
Friday, November 16th

Football extends winning streak

Ben DeHaan
SENIOR STAFF REPORTER

As the Dutchmen took the field on Saturday against Olivet, there was emotion in the air from Parent's Day. However, the team knew they had a game to win, and quickly the focus turned to intensity.

Hope jumped out to a quick lead and never looked back, as they demolished the Comets 41-6. This victory was Hope's seventh win in a row, and the fifth game in a row that they have led the entire game.

By winning, Hope has set up an unofficial MIAA championship match at Albion next week. Albion defeated Kalamazoo last week 30-28, and is now tied with Hope at 4-0 in the MIAA.

"This is championship week right here. It's all or nothing now; this is what it's all about right now," said Phil Butler ('04), Hope quarterback.

The Flying Dutchmen had plenty more to be happy about, as even more records were broken this week. Butler threw for four touchdowns, which sets his single season mark at 23 touchdowns. This surpassed former Hope quarterback Greg Heeres mark of 21 touchdowns.

Butler also completed 20 of 33 passes for 312 yards, setting his yard total for the season at 1,981 yards, also a new Hope record. Receivers Mike Gle ('02) and Brian Adloff ('02) also put their name into history. Gle caught seven passes for 41 yards, and hauled in two touchdowns. This put his pass reception yardage for the season at 818 yards, a Hope record. Gle's touchdowns also extended his season total to 13, and his career total to 23, both Hope College records. Adloff also had an exceptional game. He caught six passes for 84 yards before going out with back spasms. However, the six catches put his season mark at 57, breaking the previous record (which Adloff also held) of 51 from the 2000 season.

Adloff also needs just three more catches to put his career total to 200.

"It was a whole team effort. Coach was calling the right plays at the right time," Butler said. "The records are great, but the only record that really matters so far is our league record."

Hope dominated both sides of the ball once again, as the offense crushed the Comet's defense for 499 total offensive yards, and controlled the ball almost ten minutes longer than Olivet. In the first half, Hope scored on four straight drives, while only needing to punt the ball once the entire game.

Defensively, Hope shut down Olivet and never really let them into the game, holding them to just 152 offensive yards.

Hope also picked up 3 sacks, an interception, and forced a fumble. Matt Beaver ('04) led the Dutchmen with 13 tackles, while Pat Warren ('02) added 12, and Bill Rozema ('04) tacked on 11.

"Everybody came out and did their job today," Warren said. "We came to play football today."

Hope's head coach, Dean Kreps was happy with the play of his younger players.

"Our younger guys did especially well today," Kreps said. "But we're going to get our other guys back at it for the game next week so we'll be at full strength."

Hope got the ball rolling in the first quarter when Hope forced Olivet to punt on three straight downs. Only three plays later, Butler hit Joel Solomon ('03) from 48 yards out to put the Dutch on the board first. On the ensuing kickoff, Olivet fumbled the kick, and Hope recovered on the Olivet 26-yard line. Hope would get inside the red zone, but was forced to settle with a 24-yard field goal from Ian Fish ('02) to make the score 10-0.

ANCHOR PHOTO BY ROB ONDRA

Joel Solomon ('03) scores a touchdown during the win over Olivet on Saturday.

The Comets would take the ball back, but the solid defense of the Dutchmen forced another punt. Hope drove the ball all the way to Olivet's three-yard line, but was once again forced to settle with a field goal, this time a 20-yarder, from Fish. The Comets used this opportunity to answer with a touchdown of their own, as they capped off a 73-yard drive with a 1-yard run from running back Gabe Stewart. The PAT failed, though, and Hope held a 13-6 lead. Hope would counter the score only six plays later, as the offense stormed into Comet territory, ending with Gle's six yard touchdown catch from Butler to officially give Butler the single season record for touchdown passes. Hope led at halftime 20-6.

Hope would come out just as strong in the second half. The defense held the Comets once again, and Hope would receive the ball on their own three-yard line. The Dutchmen used the time wisely, and drove the ball the distance of the field in 18 plays. Butler found Scott Jeschke ('04) in the endzone from two yards out to put Hope up 27-6.

After another Comet punt, Hope began another drive late in the third quarter. As time expired in the quarter, Mike Gle caught a 31-yard pass in the endzone from Butler to put the Dutchmen up 34-6. The fourth quarter was primarily defense for both teams, but late in the fourth quarter, Hope would break the ice, as Curtis Tyler ('02) ended a strong running drive with a two yard rush into the endzone. Tyler ran for 30 yards on four carries in the final drive to go along with his touchdown. Hope would intercept Olivet's final drive and kneel on it to end the game at 41-6.

Hope is not just playing for the MIAA title on Saturday, but for a potential playoff spot.

"A lot is on the line," Kreps said. "Our players will be ready. Motivation is not a problem this week; it hasn't been all year."

Kickoff at Albion is scheduled for 1:00 p.m.

ANCHOR ALL-STAR

AMY BROWER

Brower ('02) was voted the MIAA's most valuable volleyball player for the season. She was one of the captains for the Co-Champion Flying Dutch Volleyball team who shared the championship with Alma College. Brower will now shift her attention to basketball for the Flying Dutch.

All MIAA teams named

VOLLEYBALL

1st Team: Amy Brower '02, Kara Van Assen '03

2nd Team: Martha Luidens '03, Laura Hahnfeld '03

Honorable Mention: Molly Henson '02

M-SOCCER

1st Team: Marcus Voss '03, Ed Huebner '04, Tim Keeler '02, Jon Kucinski '02

2nd Team: Matt Margaron '03

Honorable Mention: Tim Kelly '03

W-SOCCER

2nd Team: Liz Dornbos '02, Beth Stygstra '02

Honorable Mention: Dawn Gillam '05, Heidi Libner '05, Candace Kool '02, Mary Ayres '03, Danielle Nave '04

89.9
WTHS

HOPE COLLEGE
ANCHOR
141 E 12TH ST
PO BOX 9000
HOLLAND MI 49422-9000

Non-Profit Organization
U.S. Postage
PAID
Hope College